Description

Antique gold filled pocket watch, c1880s. The watch has a key-wound movement which is working nicely. The movement is protected by an inner cover engraved 'Patent Lever' and 'Full Jewelled'. The watch measures 50mm diameter excluding the stem and the loop. The case is gold filled and overall is in good condition with just general surface marks from use, nothing serious at all. The watch glass has some marking which is visible if you look quite closely. The dial is in very nice condition. It is more unusual to see a dial of this design in a gold finish, usually they are in silver. Blued steel hands, a subsidiary seconds dial and outer minute markers. The watch will be sent in a new presentation box. Free worldwide shipping
