Description

George III oak cross banded dresser base This George III oak cross banded dresser base was made circa 1820 Having a shaped apron with 3 cabriole legs along the front, and ending on pad feet. Normally on these dressers you only have a leg at each end, but as this is of good length, the cabinet maker added the central leg to add extra support. The dresser has 3 drawers with brass swing handles with solid brass back plates. The drawers with mahogany cross banding around the edge. These dressers are fantastic and can be used in so many areas of your home. We have placed them in kitchens, dining rooms, drawing rooms and hallways, every time they look superb. 200cms long (78 3/4ins) 53.5cms deep (21ins) 81.5cms high (32ins) UK mainland delivery £75+vat
