Description

Lovely and unusual first period Worcester porcelain fig leaf dish with finely modelled vein decoration and painted in polychrome enamels with a pale green and yellow border and scattered garden flowers. Provenance: the Zorensky collection as illustrated in Spero & Sandon, page 118, plate 85. It has lost its collection sticker but you can see from the details it is the same dish. It measures 19cm (7 3/8") long, 17cm (6 3/4") wide and 4cm (1 5/8") high. Condition is excellent with no damage or restoration. Surface wear is light, just to a couple of tiny places on the rose. There is a small firing line along the side of the stalk and a few kiln dust dots.

Internal Ref: FA0534
