Description

FINE quality late Georgian mahogany inverted breakfront wardrobe in very good original condition. The first thing to say about this wardrobe is it is of the highest quality and it is a lovely mellow colour especially on the front. This type of wardrobe is often referred to as a "Pillar Box" wardrobe. The centre section has seven drawers, two smaller ones at the top over 5 larger ones beneath. The drawers all have their original wooden knobs and Bramah type brass locks. The drawers are all oak lined with pine bottoms and have the original blue paper linings. To either side of the bank of drawers there is a full length hanging cupboard. The wardrobe has its original plinth base which is in good order. The two end parts have lift off nice shape cornice sections with the middle section have a shaped architectural back board. The right hand wardrobe door has its original lock and working key as do the drawers. The left hand wardrobe door has had its original lock removed and the hole professionally filled in some time ago, the door now shuts with magnetised catches. Apart from a few old scores and marks to the sides this wardrobe is in exceptionally good condition. It all...
