Description

This sword stick should be considered in two parts: The handle, collar and blade are early 19th century; the collar has a makers mark for McHattie & Fenwick, Edinburgh (1799-1807) and the blade is a good fullered triangular steel with an edge, ending in a fine point. The scabbard has been made to appear as Hawthorn and the brass ferrule is also later. That having been said, the sword stick is still a handsome piece. Size: Length - 33.5" (85cms)
Blade - 26" (66cms)
