Description

A fine example of a late 18th Century mahogany Tallboy. This impressive piece is in good original condition with its original brass handles. It is well balanced, simple in design and the whole piece sits on bracket feet. The lower section contains three graduating drawers and the top section contains two short over three long drawers. The top section comes off to split into two to make transport easier. The whole piece is in good condition. It is sturdy and the oak lined drawers are generally clean and tidy and all run well, many having had internal runners recently replaced or repaired. There are no signs of worm and it has developed a beautiful patina with a deep rich colour. It has been well maintained over the years and as such has some small repairs to the veneer in places and a small old split on the front of one drawer which has been repaired from within (see photos) but nothing detrimental. There are some minor signs of age and use and some small surface marks but nothing major. The round back plate on one handle has been changed at some point but it doesn't stand out. Overall it displays beautifully. The best description comes from the photos so please look at th...
