Description

A lovely English Georgian oak side table of small proportions dating from the mid to late 18th Century. It has an over-hanging oak top set on tapering legs with pad feet and a single long drawer above a nicely shaped frieze. It has been well made and well looked after and is in good condition. The brass drop handles have been changed and are not original, however look in-keeping with the piece. There are some minor signs of historic woodworm around the back but that hasn't affected the table aesthetically or structurally. There is a small repair to one foot but otherwise no major damages. It obviously has some signs of age and use but nothing detrimental and it is strong and sturdy and displays very nicely. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions at all please ask. Free delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton, Devon. Regular deliveries to London, £40. Nationwide delivery available, please get in touch for an accurate quote.
