Description

A lovely oak desk chair dating from the early 20th Century. It is a good comfortable chair and very well made. It has a lovely shape with a curved back and wide comfortable seat with its original light brown leatherette seat. It has four splayed legs and the chair swivels on a large bolt and is adjustable in height. It is in good condition for its age. It has developed a lovely aged patina and is structurally sound. The chair is not without a few small marks here and there and one of the wooden caps covering a screw is missing on the back (see photo) but nothing untoward or detrimental for a chair of this age. The fabric seat is in good condition with no splits or tears and the mechanism for swivelling and adjusting the height is in good working order. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton, Devon. London rate £40.
