Description

Victorian burr walnut baby Sutherland table This Victorian burr walnut baby Sutherland table was made circa 1860. It is of an oval shape when it has its drop leaves up. The well figured burr walnut top on a solid walnut base. The turned walnut gate legs pull open on castors that support the drop flaps. At each end there is a turned solid walnut support with a pair of cabriole legs, and joined by a walnut turned stretcher. This table is so versatile and can be used in many situations around your home. It would make a superb coffee table that could be placed in the centre of your room for guests, or as a day to day table set by your chair or between a pair of chairs. We have sold them also as bedside tables and placed in bay windows. Imagine how lovely this will look in your home and will be admired by family and friends. 53cms wide (21ins) 14cms deep (5 1/2ins) 54cms high (21 1/4ins) 63cms with flaps up in use (24 3/4ins) UK mainland delivery £75+vat All Antique Tables Here PRICE MATCHING Antiques are unique, and it is impossible to price match in the normal way.
