Description

1930s walnut cheval dressing mirror This walnut cheval dressing mirror was made in the 1930's This mirror is supported by a stand consisting of a pair of uprights finishing with fine turned finials at the top. The base ends with a pair of shaped legs coming off the uprights. Under the legs are brass castors The mirror with a walnut shaped frame with an inset mirror. Half-way up the supports are a brass knob that tightens or loosens on a screw so that you adjust the angle to your requirements. These mirrors are very popular, as they are compact but also a useful item for the bedroom dressing area. We have restored this in our workshop, and is back to its former glory 43cms wide at widest point (17ins) 166.5cms high (65 1/2ins) 49cms deep (19ins) UK mainland delivery £75+vat PRICE MATCHING Antiques are unique, and it is impossible to price match in the normal way.
