Description

A charming 19th Century painted dresser of small proportions. This charming breakfront dresser has three frieze drawers over two side cupboards, an open Gothic arched 'dog' or display cupboard and side hanging rail. The sides of the dresser are panelled and the top is framed by a very attractive scrolled and serpentine backboard. The dresser stands on turned feet and retains its original scumble paint and original glass knobs. The condition is very good, the drawers run well and it stands firmly and securely. This unusual dresser offers good storage and is a useful size to place in any room. c.1880 Width: 50" (127cm) Depth: 23" (59cm) Height: 41" (104cm)
