Description

A simple pine side table with single drawer on square legs, dating from around 1800. It has a planked pine top, slightly overhanging the frame with a single drawer below with the original brass drop handles. It has good proportions and is particularly deep, making it a good small desk. It is in good original condition with a dry stripped finish. It is strong and sturdy and the drawer opens well. One round back plate on a handle has been changed at some point and there are normal signs of age and use and an old repaired split in the drawer base but it is a good honest little table. There are a few old worm holes which have been treated as a precaution and overall it displays very nicely.
