Description

Delightful little 1930's Art Deco chrome desk top clock and weather station. For its size it's quite a weighty little piece and shows real signs of quality when you look closely. Featuring a barometer and a clock to the right both are supported on a chrome plinth. Made by Lancel Paris, the clock has an eight day Swiss movement with raised chrome numerals and chrome dial hands. Condition is excellent with minimal signs of ageing and having been recently serviced by our horologist also comes to you in full working order.
