A handsome tall antique George III standing oak corner cupboard. A double height cupboard with two paneled doors which open to reveal shelves for storage. It has a brass escutcheon to the bottom door and a brass pull handle to the top cupboard. To the top is a shaped cornice, to the interior of each cupboard are two shelves. Unusually this is all one piece, instead of two cupboards on top of each other. This corner cupboard would look fantastic in a kitchen or bathroom. Construction/Wood: Oak Condition Report: Good colour and patina. Lots of age related wear and marks. Small section to one corner worn away. Some old worm holes. Split to door panel on top cupboard. Other general wear and marks commensurate with age. This is an old piece dating from 18th Century and lots of age and wear.
