Description

John Swinburn of SUNDERLAND: a very good quality mid-18th century BRACKET CLOCK, fully restored and in perfect working order. The ebonised case is surmounted by a "bell" top with a finely cast ormolu handle and four ormolu finials. The front door features pierced spandrels to the upper corners; original brass escutcheon plate and it is supported on cast brass bracket feet. The 8-day movement retains its original verge escapement, striking and repeating hours on a bell. Fine dial with "Strike/Silent" in the arch and date aperture above "VI". The backplate is beautifully engraved with the engraved signature signature and pretty heart-shaped back-cock. Measurements: 20ins (51cms) high. John Swinburn (Father and Son, Jonathan) worked as Clockmakers in Sunderland from circa 1745

Internal Ref: 1799
