Description

Sir William John Newton, 1785-1869 Portrait of Field Marshal Sir Samuel Hulse, GCH, (1746-1837) Field Marshal Sir Samuel Hulse 18 x 15.5 cm. (7 x 6 in.) Sir Samuel Hulse (1747/8-1837), army officer and court official, was the second son of Sir Edward Hulse, second baronet (d. 1800), and his wife, Hannah, the daughter of Samuel Vanderplank, a merchant, and the grandson of the physician Sir Edward Hulse. He entered the army in the 1st foot guards as ensign on 17 December 1761. As captain and lieutenant-colonel he was present with his battalion during the Gordon riots in 1780. In 1793, as brevet-colonel and regimental first major, he commanded the 1st battalion of his regiment with the duke of York at the siege of Valenciennes, in the brilliant affair under Major-General Gerard Lake at Lincelles, and during the operations before Dunkirk, until October, when he returned home on promotion. After returning to Flanders as major-general in May 1794, he commanded a brigade in some minor affairs near Tournai and in the retreat to Bremen. Early in 1795 he was appointed to the home staff, and commanded at Brighton for three years. In 1798 Hulse became lieutenant-general and was dis...
