Description

A fine quality George III Style flamed mahogany Carlton House desk. The upper section with a pierced brass gallery and solid mahogany top above an arrangement of flame mahogany drawers, cupboards, pigeon holes and an adjustable green leather writing surface with gilt and blind tooled detail. The lower section has three rectangular oak lined drawers with flame veneered fronts and traditional brass swan neck handles. Supported on square tapering Georgian style supports with brass castors and united by a solid mahogany under-tier with a further brass gallery. This desk is veneered in the finest flame veneers throughout and is finished all around so it can be free standing in the centre of a room. English circa 1890-1900 Dimensions: 56" wide x 31" deep x 41" high Condition: This desk is in excellent original condition, cleaned and waxed A Carlton House desk is a specific antique desk form within the more general bureau a gradin form. This specific form is supposed to have been designed in the 18th century for the Prince of Wales (who later became George IV) by George Hepplewhite. It is named after Carlton House, which was at the time the London residence of the Prince of ...
