Description

Interesting and decorative C18th George II period style carved and polished pine pier table with a faux marble slab top. Decorative C19th copy of a mid-Georgian period pier or console table raised on boldly carved acanthus leaf detail cabriole legs onto pad feet. The frieze with fluted detail beneath an ovolo or 'egg and dart' carved moulding. The pine wooden top has been painted and simulated as a portoro marble slab. The pine body has been coloured and polished to resemble oak. The reverse with plain patinated finish. Useful scale side or hall table of practical proportions. In good original country-house condition. The faux marble slab top with evidence of an historic repaired joint and minor marks, scratches and paint surface losses. A highly decorative table of classical mid C18th design in an unusual format and combination of materials. H 31" W 46" D 22" England c.1850
