Description

Barclay's Brewery Oak Hotel Black Board or Menu Board Barclay Perkins Brewery once stood in Southwark, south London 200 years ago it was the largest brewery in the world. It was renamed it Barclay Perkins in 1797. An attractive piece of history, this charming Oak menu board would have been hung on the wall at the entrance to the hotel or bar, advertising, Ales, Stouts and Lager at the top and Lunches at the bottom The black board is set in a large Oak Frame, this is removed from behind the glass at the back to chalk the changing menu The frame and board are all in good condition for their age The Frame is 28" wide, 46" high and 2" deep AV36 Only items dated up to 1920 can be found on Selling Antiques, to see all of our stock including Mid Century and Art Deco post 1920 please view our web site We Give Free Delivery to Mainland England & Wales, Delivery times vary according to your location usually 7 to 28 days We only operate an online store and regrettably viewing in person is not an option.
