Description

Mid C19th Anglo-Indian carved padauk or rosewood dwarf bookcase or side cabinet. Well-carved Anglo-Indian 2-door cabinet with intricate carved and pierced floral and scroll panels , raised on 4 compressed bun feet with carved detail. High quality carved details throughout with gadrooned and fluted edges and reeded borders , the whole having achieved an exceptional colour and patina to the well-chosen figured timber. The ends with channel carved borders . The interior fitted with a single adjustable shelf . An interesting colonially-made decorative side cabinet of practical proportions, which would add an exotic accent to a period interior. *NB An almost identical cabinet is illustrated and discussed in "Furniture from British India & Ceylon " by Dr. Amin Jaffer p. 338 no. 154. H 43" W 52" D 14" British India , Bombay c. 1850
