Description

Super quality little writing table and chair by the celebrated English cabinet makers Lamb of Manchester c.1870. Ingenious design desk with an inkstand and pen tray hidden below a folding lid with flush fitting brass handle so as not to clutter the work space. Retaining the original tooled leather skiver and with a single oak lined drawer below, flanked with swept supports with a carved detail also repeated on the rear. Raised on particularly good turned reeded and fluted legs with the original castors by Cope & Collinson. Clearly stamped Lamb Manchester on the top of the drawer front. Obvious wear to the leather which could be replaced if preferred. Otherwise excellent condition. Sold together with a matching oak chair, also by Lamb. With an unusual H shaped back rest between turned and fluted stiles with round pommel tops. Seat freshly upholstered in a grey chenille, raised on turned and fluted legs with brown pot castors. Stamped on the underside. Dimensions: width 42", depth 20", height 28".
