Description

A wonderful small cast iron and painted money box in the form of a house. The house unscrews to split into two halves, this is how it would have been emptied, perhaps by a father for their child. The screw at the back runs through the house and the end acts as the door knob on the front door. Above the door is a plaque dated 1878, a charming collectible in excellent condition. The house sits slightly on a slant as when cast one little foot is inconsistent, not a fault but mentioned purely for accuracy. 2 1/4" x 2" x 3 1/4" to top of chimney.
