Description

19th Century Wooden Thermos Field Kitchen Food Warmer, This is a very old thermos food warmer, it is a wooden box with a brass tap at the bottom and a small brass handle on either side, ideal for a picnic or shooting party. The wooden box is padded and lined, and fitting very tightly inside this, the metal flask, which has double thickness for a beverage in the centre and hot water on the outside. Of course it could be filled with ice to keep a summer drink cold. Very rare, the box is 14.5" high, and 11" x 11" TAV92.
