Description

Fabulous burl walnut antique writing box slope with secret drawers and blank inlaid brass cartouche and escutcheon with subtle brass strip surrounds. Three wide brass protective corner pieces to each of the four verticals. Brass bands that extend down the full depth to the rear of box. Robust inset brass side handles. All brassware stated is original and complete. The side drawer is accessed by removing a brass locking rod located to the box interior. The drawer features the original lacquered interior (a sign of quality). The lid closes perfectly square on the original brass hinges and opens to reveal an impressive interior. Note the presence of coromandel veneer and the inlaid brass surround to the aperture for the brass rod that secures the side drawer (more signs of quality). The office section comprises of, stamp slope, dished pen tray with storage space beneath, small lidded section with original brass knob and twin ink-pot sections. The writing platform has had a replacement gilt embossed leather fitted that is free of tears and stains. Both storage sections beneath the writing surface are in very clean condition. The secret drawers accessed by the usual method o...
