Description

Fine quality Victorian satinwood breakfront compactum wardrobe which has a fantastic grain and a beautiful rich colour the cabinet maker used the finest wood available at the time to make this superb wardrobe that has stood the test of time very well a sure sign of quality dating from around the 1860s. It has been fully restored to a very high standard and has been freshly paper lined. The two hanging sections each have a single hanging rail the right hand side has a shoe storage box to the bottom. The central fitted section has four pull out linen trays with three drawers below that all run nice and smooth as they should. The wardrobe comes in three main sections plus the cornice and plinth base. This really is a fantastic wardrobe with no unsightly damage and has been fully restored by our restorer and French polishers that have a combined 75 years experience and still retains its wonderful antique patina.
