Description

A lovely Art Deco perpetual desk calendar in a solid silver frame on an ebonised wood base with monthly cards. It's a beautifully made desk calendar that has a great look. It is hallmarked for Birmingham 1929 and has a makers mark W.J.M & Co for W.J.Myatt. The back of the calendar is held on by two clips and this enables the month cards to be turned over and changed. It's in excellent condition for its age and is clearly hallmarked. The silver frame has some small dents and marks here and there but nothing major and there is a small split on the wooden back (see photo). All double sided month cards are present and in good condition. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask.
