Description

A superb solid silver Georgian Cream Jug. Oval in form, this Jug has no embossing or engraving apart from an initial to one side of the jug (see images). It is a wonderfully plain polished silver, with a neat reeded border around the top edge. The spout is a traditional Georgian design and the handle is a lovely angular shape. Enhancing the overall design; the jug sits on four Lion's paw feet. It has an original pale gilt interior. Hallmarks are clearly visible just beneath the spout for the London Assay Office with a date for 1809 and Lion Passant indicating the finest sterling silver. The maker's mark is also visible for 'RD'. A lovely item in great antique collector's condition. Hallmarks London 1809. Measurements: Height: 9.3 cm approx. Width from spout to handle: 14 cm approx. Depth: 6.9 cm approx. Weight: 134 grams approx.
