Description

This little Oak Chest of Drawers is from the early half of the last century, actually looks Victorian. It is very clean inside and out, having a good finish and a nice medium oak colour. It is very well made, being all oak lined as well as having good graining on the drawers fronts and the rest of the carcass. The front corners are the popular rounded type and have a most pleasing detail, the turned wooden knobs add to the appeal. It has good storage for its size, a lot of quality for the price too.
