Description

This is a very attractive carriage clock with the unusual addition of unique cobalt blue minute track and minutes around the Black Roman numerals. It also has the addition of the Henri Jacot inner ring. The clock is not stamped for Henri Jacot but after years of working on H.J. clocks, we can say this most likely came out of his workshops and was retailed by another. The clock is fully engraved and again, quite a unique style of hand engraving, expertly executed. The case and dial mask are also gilded and the gilding is a very attractive rich colour. The clock has push repeat, alarm, hour and half hour strike on a gong. Dating to around 1890-1900.
