Description

This heavily carved round occasional table is of very generous proportions and makes a real statement wherever placed. With deep carved foliage weaving up the stem, birds carved between the legs which themselves terminate in dragon's heads, it is impossible to decide where to look first. A real Tour De Force of the carver's art, and feast for the eyes. As it is a tip table, can be placed at the side of a room when not in use, but difficult to imagine this table not attracting attention wherever it is placed!
