Description

This little Georgian side table has a useful little drawer, a slim tapering leg and classic period lines with good colour in the timber. In original but cleaned and re waxed condition it has evidence of use over the last 200 years but is still most presentable. A superb size at 78cms across it has a little note on the inside of the drawer from a previous owner, a lovely little feature. The brass handles are unusual with a star style back plates and just finish off this rather nice example. It is very keenly priced too at only £225.
