Description

C18th George II period mahogany kneehole desk of small proportions. Mid C18th mahogany desk of mellow, faded patina fitted with original brass-ware. The moulded-edge top with good faded patination, having some minor marks and imperfections commensurate with age, use and purpose. Fitted with brass-drop handles on solid shaped brass backplates. The centre with an elegantly-shaped arch above the recessed single-door cupboard fitted with original shaped brass escutcheon plate and 'H' shaped hinges. The centre flanked by 3 short drawers to each side. The long top drawer fitted with a decorative shaped brass escutcheon, original steel lock and working key. All drawers with quality oak linings and of dove-tailed construction. The reverse fitted with the original oak boards. The whole raised on original bracket feet. A useful small-scale mid C18th period desk, which could be used in a drawing room or in a bedroom as a dressing table. Has been cleaned and waxed in our workshops. H 30" D 20" W 30" England c.1760
