Description

A lovely antique desk chair dating from the early 20th Century. It has a nice shape with short turned spindles along the back and below the arms. The back and seat are made of a hard fibre-board with a leather look embossing and a red velvet cushion has been made at some point to fit the chair. It has four legs and swivels on a large bolt and also tilts backwards when you lean back in the chair. The height is adjustable by swivelling it up or down on the bolt. It is a good generous size, approximately 35 1/2" (90cm) high, 22 1/2" (57cm) wide across the arms and the seat is approximately 20" (51cm) deep. It is in excellent condition for its age. It has developed a lovely aged patina and is structurally very sound. It is not without a few small marks here and there and an old repaired split on one side but nothing untoward for a chair of this age. The seat is in good condition with no splits or tears and the mechanism for tilting and swivelling is in good strong working order.
