Description

For your consideration is this fabulously stylish 1930's Art Deco cocktail cabinet. Wonderful and an unusual shape being of a half circular drum form. This cabinet dates from the 1930's and has all the bells and whistles you want from a cocktail cabinet. The upper interior has a mirrored base and coloured mirrored backing in a harlequin pattern of brick red and gold. The chrome lemon squeezer which is always usually missing and the coloured bakelite cocktail sticks are all there and present. The two upper side doors open to reveal extra storage for glasses with chrome bar container. The lower section of the cabinet has a sliding door and opens to reveal a very generously sized shelving space for glasses and bottles. If all this wasn't enough the cabinet itself is veneered in the most glorious walnut, with heavily figured patterns and in a warm mid tone colouring, the honey coloured phenolic bakelite handles finish this piece to perfection. We've had the whole cabinet restored and so comes to you in excellent condition. Overall size of this cabinet is also very appealing, large enough to house all your requirements but not so big and rambling to take over a room. Delive...
