Description

This is a good solid table that could stay as it is or maybe a good one to paint. It dates from the 1800s and has a nicely turned leg and the popular rounded corner. It seats four with ease and six if a bit tight. Originally this was an extending table but has been fixed in the past to be a very solid farm house type example, but of much better quality than you would normally find with a kitchen type table. It is in a used but good tidy condition, requiring nothing doing to put right into use today if you wanted to. For sale at a really keen price, £165, and can be delivered to most parts by a specialist carrier for about £70.
