Description

Set of 18th Century Sicilian Apothecary's Jars Incredibly rare and important find, these large Jars date from around the late 1700s, all have lids and they would have originated from either a Convent or Monastery. The Jars have been turned in wood, they are in their original paint, both inside and out, the names on the jars represent the contents of each. Condition Report The jars are in remarkably good condition considering their age, they are sound, the paint work has chipping and it is faded The jars are 20" tall and 9" in diameter BKW30 Only items dated up to 1920 can be found on Selling Antiques, to see all of our stock including Mid Century and Art Deco post 1920 please view our web site We Give Free Delivery to Mainland England & Wales, Delivery times vary according to your location usually 7 to 28 days We only operate an online store and regrettably viewing in person is not an option.
