Description

Date & Origin Scotland, c1910. Period of George V. Condition Excellent, age-related wear as shown. Dimensions Height: 22.9cm Diameter: 8.2cm. Weight 992 grams Technical Description A rare enamelled bar water bottle. The rim features two pouring sections upon a short neck. A square body is enamelled Munro's Scotch Whisky Dalwhinnie. The piece is finished with a polished pontil. The bottle would have held water which was then used to pour into the Whisky as per your own strength. Historical Relevance The style of the bottle is most likely a homage to Munro's square bottle whisky. A blended whisky imported to the US along with Munro's King of Kings, by New York's Epicure Wines and Spirits Co. following the end of prohibition. This blend very likely contained whisky from the Dalwhinnie distillery which was operated by James Munro & Son on behalf of its American parent company until 1919.
