Description

A rare and beautiful saddle-cover made by Afshar nomads in Kerman Province, southern Persia during the second half of the 19th century. The sky-blue field is superb with the cantle-hole in the centre and at the top can be seen the vertical cut for the pommel (seen in more detail in one of the close-up images). Although virtually complete, there are areas requiring some tlc! Size: 97cm x 79cm (3' 2" x 2' 7").
