Description

A beautiful desktop oak stationery cabinet dating from the early 20th century. It is excellent quality with a lovely warm patina and a sloped front with brass escutcheon. The doors opens up to reveal a series of racks for holding papers and letters. There is also a pen tray and glass inkwell. Below this there is a large drawer with ornate brass handle, held in place by a metal pin. The cabinet also comes with its original working key. It is in good original condition and although it has been used it has obviously been very well looked after over the years. There are a few small knocks and marks around the outside, general signs of age and light use and a small chip on the back corner but nothing detrimental. The pin holding the drawer closed has been replaced at some point and the original would have likely been brass. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions at all please ask. Nationwide delivery £10.
