Description

A small 17th century carved Italian walnut cassone having superb colour and patination. The front richly carved with lavish scrolls of foliage centered by an oval panel with cabochon boss, between bands of undulating leaves and flanked by an atlante & caryatid. The molded base rails carved with imbricated leaves above lion paw feet. The sides having molded frames with carrying handles centred. Some wood worm damage and minor restorations all commiserate with age. Overall condition excellent.
