Description

A nice example of a small antique french side table dating from the early 20th Century. The table has a rouge marble top with a raised brass gallery. Below the top is a band of applied ornate gilded swirls. The table stands on three delicate legs with splayed feet with further gilt decoration at the top of the legs. The table is in good condition for its age. There is a small section of gilt swirl missing and a few other minor losses to the gilt decoration at the top of the legs but overall it displays very nicelt. There are some minor marks, knocks and scuffs and general light signs of age and use but nothing untoward or detrimental. It has been cleaned and gently polished and is ready for use.
