Description

Late C19th Austrian decorated terracotta study of a miniature dachshund. Realistically modelled and coloured study of a male miniature dachshund in the style of Goldscheider, Vienna, Austria. The dog is portrayed in standing pose with his head turned and tilted to dexter, the tail extended. The model is complete with realistic glass eyes and shown wearing a collar. The sculptor has skilfully captured the distinctive features of the breed and has created a characterful study of immense charm. In good original condition with minor historic restoration to the tail. No manufacturers marks or stamps. H 12" W 18" D 5" Austria c.1890
