Description

Elegant late C18th George III period mahogany side table. Single-drawer side table with a bow-fronted top, raised on square section tapering legs. The mahogany-lined drawer fitted with the old replacement cast-brass knob handles, the drawer edges with incised carved simulated 'cock-beading'. The single-piece bow-front shaped top of fine, thin depth and proportions, with an 'over-hang' to the rear. The top with some fading and shadowing to the centre from exposure to sunlight. Minor shrinkage crack to one end of the top. A sophisticated late Georgian period mahogany side table of restrained design in good original, as found, 'country-house' condition.
