Description

Antique Russian Imperial Court silver half hunter pocket watch by Paul Buhre. The watch has a stem-winding movement which is working nicely. The movement is protected by an inner cover which has an inscription which translates as, 'Paul Buhre, supplier to his Majesty's Court'. The watch measures 52mm diameter excluding the winding stem and the loop. The case is silver and there are Russian hallmarks inside all three of the outer covers. The front of the case has an image of the Russian Imperial eagle beneath a blue enamel filled ribbon... a little of the enamel is missing. The engine turned detailing to both the front and the back of the case is in good condition, still nice and crisp. Watches with the Russian Imperial eagle could not be bought by the general public, they were produced strictly on the orders of the Czarist Court. The winding crown pushes in to open the front cover. Inside the lens is in good condition. The dial is signed ????? ???? (Paul Buhre) and it is in very nice condition. Pin-set hands, a subsidiary seconds dial and an outer minute track. The watch comes with its original chain, again with Russian silver hallmarks. The company of Paul B...
