Description

Date & Origin England, c1920. Period of George V Condition Age-related wear and some minor grazes to some of the cuts and the stoppers as expected, there is some internal bloom as shown. Dimensions Height: 24.2cm Diameter: 17.8cm. Weight 4345 grams combined Technical Description A pair of green slice cut glass ships decanters. The slice cut neck is decorated with three notch cut applied neck rings. Slice cutting continues down the tapering body. The wide base of the piece is finished with star cutting. A pair of ships decanters from any era are rare. They have been very well cut and have a real art deco feel in a beautiful Bristol green approx 100 years old. Historical Relevance In the United States, the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution is started in 1920, which outlawed the production and consumption of alcohol and was more commonly known as Prohibition
