Description

This is a large antique sideboard. A French, bow-fronted oak buffet cabinet of country house proportions at over 8 feet long, dating to the late 19th century, circa 1900. Select oak displays warm caramel hues in a wax polished finish. Fine grain interest with wisps of medullary rays. Good consistent colour and a desirable aged patina. Richly decorated with carved detail. Attractive parquetry features on the wide counter top with shaped edge moulding. A suite of four drawers compliment four opening cupboards beneath. Dressed with solid brass handles with foliate terminals. Each cabinet presented with shaped, relief field panels. Brass escutcheons to each door, with working, double-throw locks, complete with key. Continuous swagged apron centres upon a carved shell motif. Raised upon cabriole legs to the front, with square section rear legs. A magnificent large antique sideboard with fascinating detail. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
