Description

This is an antique secretaire bookcase. A Scottish, mahogany cabinet dating to the late Victorian period of the 19th century, circa 1880. A fine and rare example in very good order. Crafted in choice cuts of quality mahogany. Good consistent colour and desirable grain interest. Working locks and keys throughout. Raised on beautifully carved hairy lion paw feet. Modest crown moulding with crossbanded frieze. Upper cabinet flanked by magnificent helically reeded pillars. Lower Cabinet: A pair of plain field panel doors close with a brass dust strip. Brass keyhole escutcheon with working lock and key. Opens to reveal a single full-width shelf within. Locking secretaire drawer dressed with loop handles over lion mask back-plates. Inset, forest green leather writing surface before seven cubbies. Over three stationery drawers dressed with brass pulls. Upper Cabinet: Six pane glazed doors featuring the original glass. Brass dust strip and keyhole escutcheon with working lock and key. A pair of removable bookshelves within. A very fine piece to grace any library or drawing room. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home. Dimensions: Max Width: 120cm (4...
