Description

Good example of an antique oak joint stool with gun-barrel turned legs and a pegged construction. It has a lovely dark aged patina and a characterful worn top which looks to have been used as a chopping board. It is in good condition with no major damages. The bottom of the feet are slightly worn and there are signs of age and use but it is solid and sturdy and displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. UK Delivery £35.
