

SA644455

Small Rosewood Library Mantel Clock by Price of London

Price

SoldItem Reference: SA644455*Date of manufacture: Georgian

Description

A delightfully small rosewood mantel clock by W. R. Price of London. Unusually with the actual date of manufacture engraved on the dial - 1825. The movement is of the single chain fusee type and features an anchor escapement. The pendulum can be fixed in position for transportation purposes using a brass screw. The rosewood veneered cabinet work has extensive brass inlay to the front elevation and fish scale sound frets to the sides. The escapement can be viewed through the bevelled glass to the top of the case. Standing on four solid rosewood bun feet. A highly desirable and small library clock, perfect for a mantelpiece or study. Standing at only 9.5 inches tall.

Seller Details

P A Oxley Antique Clocks & Barometers

The Old Rectory Cherhill Calne Wiltshire SN11 8UX United Kingdom

Tel: 01249 816 227

International Tel: +44 1249 816 227

