Description

A late 1700's English Chippendale pine chest of drawers, in very good condition for its age. There are two small drawers over three full width drawers, each with wooden knobs. All the drawers are sliding nicely. The bracket feet aren't original, but look very attractive with the chest. It has recently been stripped of its original paint exposing a clean and tidy bare wood, ready for waxing or painting. In our opinion it will look very nice once waxed. Height 37", width 39.5", depth 20"
